

BEARFOLK

BEARFOLK IS A MONSTER SUPPLEMENT FOR 5E THAT PRESENTS BEARFOLK AS POWERFUL WOODLAND HUMANOIDS WHOSE society revolves around territory, strength, and communal survival. Rather than portraying them as simple beast-men, this ladder treats bearfolk as a structured tribal culture where every member plays a clear role in the life of the forest.

The intent of this product is mechanical clarity and encounter variety without CR inflation. The ladder progresses from cub through increasingly capable hunters and defenders, culminating in a chieftain who commands the tribe through sheer physical dominance. The progression tops out at CR 6 so bearfolk remain settlement-scale powers rather than world-shaking threats.

Bearfolk encounters emphasize overwhelming strength, grappling control, and territorial defense. They close distance quickly, overpower enemies with crushing blows, and fight ferociously to defend their kin and homeland. A bearfolk tribe should feel like an immovable natural force—slow to anger, but devastating once provoked.

Cultural lore and deeper tribal customs are intentionally minimal. Whether bearfolk live as peaceful forest guardians, isolationist hunters, or territorial rivals to nearby settlements is left to the GM. These stat blocks are tools to populate wilderness regions with a physically imposing woodland people whose strength shapes every encounter.

BEARFOLK ROSTER

Name	Challenge Rating	Description

Powerful Build. This bearfolk counts as one size larger when determining its carrying capacity and the weight it can push, drag, or lift.

Alpha Authority. Allied bearfolk within 30 feet of this bearfolk who can see or hear it gain advantage on saving throws against being frightened.

Crushing Grapple. A creature grappled by this bearfolk takes 9 (2d8) bludgeoning damage at the start of each of its turns.

ACTIONS

Multiattack. The bearfolk chieftain makes two attacks with its war maul.

War Maul. Melee Weapon Attack: +9 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 15 (2d8 + 6) bludgeoning damage.

Claw. Melee Weapon Attack: +9 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 11 (2d4 + 6) slashing damage.

BONUS ACTIONS

Commanding Roar. Allied bearfolk within 30 feet who can hear this bearfolk can immediately move up to half their speed without provoking opportunity attacks.

- The chieftain is the unquestioned physical and social leader of the tribe.
- It pushes aggressively toward the strongest enemy, demonstrating dominance.
- The chieftain uses Commanding Roar to coordinate sudden tribal charges or reposition allies.

MOOSEFOLK

MOOSEFOLK IS A MONSTER SUPPLEMENT FOR 5E THAT PRESENTS MOOSEFOLK AS SOLITARY TERRITORIAL GIANTS OF THE northern forests and wetlands. Rather than organized tribal societies, moosefolk exist as powerful individuals whose presence dominates entire stretches of wilderness. Their immense frames, towering antlers, and explosive aggression make them some of the most dangerous humanoids a traveler can encounter in dense woodland.

The intent of this product is encounter identity through physical dominance and momentum-based combat. Moosefolk do not rely on complicated tactics, magic, or ranged warfare. Instead, they control the battlefield through devastating charges, trampling hooves, and the sheer force of their size. Their attacks knock enemies prone, scatter formations, and punish those who fail to respect their territory.

These creatures work best as environmental guardians and wilderness hazards. A single moosefolk can control a valley crossing, river ford, or forest clearing, forcing adventurers to carefully consider movement and positioning. Their power escalates naturally through the ladder, culminating in the Forest Sovereign — a massive territorial ruler capable of smashing entire battle lines apart.

Moosefolk encounters emphasize raw strength, sudden violence, and territorial dominance. They are not villains by nature, but they are unforgiving defenders of their domain. Travelers who wander too far into the deep forest may discover that the wilderness already has its rulers.

MOOSEFOLK ROSTER

Name	Challenge Rating	Description
Moosefolk Calf	1	Young but already massive woodland creature whose territorial instincts are beginning to develop.
Moosefolk Forager	2	Solitary woodland gatherer who reacts violently when its territory is threatened.
Moosefolk Antler Warrior	4	Powerful defender specializing in devastating antler charges that knock enemies to the ground.
Moosefolk Bog Strider	6	Wetland hunter able to move freely through marsh and shallow water while crushing intruders.
Moosefolk Great Antler	8	Massive elder warrior whose sheer size and strength dominate forest battlefields.
Moosefolk Forest Sovereign	10	Legendary territorial ruler whose unstoppable charges shatter enemy formations.

MOOSEFOLK ANTLER WARRIOR

Challenge 4 (1,100 XP)

Devastating Charge. If this moosefolk moves at least 20 ft. straight toward a creature and then hits it with a Gore attack on the same turn, the target must succeed on a DC 15 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the target is prone, the moosefolk can make one Hoof Stomp attack against it as a bonus action.

Massive Frame. The moosefolk counts as one size larger when determining its capacity to push, drag, or shove creatures.

ACTIONS

Multiattack. The moosefolk makes two attacks: one with Gore and one with Antler Slam.

Gore. Melee Weapon Attack: +7 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 15 (2d8 + 5) piercing damage.

Antler Slam. Melee Weapon Attack: +7 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 13 (2d6 + 5) bludgeoning damage.

Hoof Stomp. Melee Weapon Attack: +7 to hit, reach 5 ft., one prone creature. Hit: 14 (2d8 + 5) bludgeoning damage.

- Moosefolk antler warriors defend territory aggressively and initiate combat with a powerful charge.
- They attempt to knock enemies prone and immediately stomp them.
- They prefer to isolate a single enemy and overwhelm it with raw strength.

MOOSEFOLK GREAT ANTLER

Large humanoid (moosefolk), neutral

Challenge 8 (3,900 XP)

Bog Sovereign. The moosefolk ignores difficult terrain caused by mud, shallow water, marsh, or dense forest undergrowth.

Devastating Charge. If this moosefolk moves at least 20 ft. straight toward a creature and then hits it with a Gore attack on the same turn, the target must succeed on a DC 17 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone. If the target is knocked prone, the moosefolk can make a Hoof Stomp attack against it as a bonus action.

Massive Frame. The moosefolk counts as one size larger when determining its capacity to push, drag, or shove creatures.

ACTIONS

Multiattack. The moosefolk makes two attacks: one with Gore and one with Antler Slam.

Gore. Melee Weapon Attack: +9 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 19 (2d10 + 6) piercing damage.

Antler Slam. Melee Weapon Attack: +9 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 17 (2d10 + 6) bludgeoning damage.

Hoof Stomp. Melee Weapon Attack: +9 to hit, reach 5 ft., one prone creature. Hit: 20 (3d8 + 6) bludgeoning damage.

- Great Antlers are massive elder warriors that dominate wetlands and forest clearings.
- It opens combat with a full-speed charge to knock enemies prone, then tramples them.
- It focuses on the largest or most threatening creature and attempts to break the enemy line through brute force.
